Do you want more control over the look and feel of your site?
Do you want to give your site a consistent design that's easy to change?

Cascading Style Sheets (CSS) gives you the power to control your webpages' style (separate from their structure). Get an overview of what Cascading Style Sheets are and how they can be used effectively to provide the aesthetic requirements for a web site.

In this workshop students will:

- see why writing good (x)html files is critical to working with CSS
- get an overview of how style sheets cascade in a web browser
- work with the Designer Style Sheet
- discuss CSS selectors, properties and values
- see examples of how working with CSS affect the look of web pages.
- do hands-on exercises and learn, step by step, how to use CSS typography and layout properties

This workshop is for those who have heard of CSS but have yet to master its power. It also serves to remove the obstacles many have found frustrating working with CSS. It gives everyone a solid overview of how it works and some practical exercises in applying CSS to a web page, a satisfying experience felt by almost all web designers, developers and authors.

Prerequisite: A working knowledge of HTML and some experience with web page design.

Space is limited to 11 participants!
