

WEBINAR: INTRODUCTION TO COMPUTING IN THE CLOUD

Led by Scott Sanicki, Princeton Public Library

Wednesday, May 26, 2010

10:00 am – 12:00 pm (2 CEU hours)

Cost: $10

Interested in an inexpensive way to share and access your files and documents from anywhere? Then cloud computing might be for you!

Data and services are being migrated to "the cloud" at a rapid rate, but what does this mean for libraries? More importantly, what exactly is the cloud and what are the practical uses that can be applied to improve our own work flow as well as provide service for our customers?

There is no doubt that cloud computing is changing the way we access and store data. This webinar, given by Princeton Public Library's Scott Sanicki, will look at several aspects of cloud computing.

Trends and advantages (as well as drawbacks) will be examined and practical advice on how you can take advantage of "computing in the cloud" will be given in this webinar.

IMPORTANT!

Please consult <http://rlcwebinars.pbworks.com> for handouts (if there is any) and instructions on preparing your computer and logging in to the webinar, prior to the event. This webinar is hosted by SJRLC using Adobe Acrobat ConnectPro.
